

The 2013 Quinn Icebreaker came and went. In it's wake, it left a multitude of tired curlers.

On three draws spread over 3 consecutive days, our curlers persevered to play on Saturday in the playoffs and then the final games. The curling was competitive.

The Winners of the A event was the Ron Haney team comprised of Skip Ron Haney; Vice Beth Halliday; Second Murray Thompson and the lead Carolyn Styles who were able to persevere over the John Tremblay foursome in an excellent match.

Other winners were the John Hope rink who took the B Event; Al Ingram's rink which took the C event and our ice maker Wayne Shea's foursome who took the D event.

After the event, all the participants were fed an excellent Prime Rib dinner cooked by the experts at the Bobcaygeon Foodland Deli. No complaints were heard about the meal or the dessert. From the little amount of left-overs, everyone's appetite was sated.

As an example of some of the creativeness of some of our curlers, consider the following entrants for the most original curling costume which had to be worn on the ice. They were excellent with the evening's festivities on Friday completing a great week of curling which introduced many, about 80% of our new curlers to the thrill of winning, the agony of defeat, accompanied by the great camaraderie of the Bobcaygeon Curling Club. To all who participated, thank you.
